

STRATEGIC INCOME "PLUS"

INVESTMENT MANAGER

Corbyn Investment Management, Inc. Corbyn has provided separate account investment management services since 1973. Over the years, our mission has remained constant: Earn clients' trust and respect by providing them with outstanding service while seeking strong, consistent investment results.

GOAL

The principal objective of this investment strategy is total return, primarily resulting from current income. To accomplish this objective, we employ a flexible strategy of investing in fixed income securities, primarily below investment grade (high yield) corporate bonds, but may also include convertible bonds and preferred stocks. The expected duration of many securities purchased in this strategy will be longer than that of Strategic Income accounts. Consequently, investors should expect more sensitivity to general market and interest rate moves than the Strategic Income account strategy due to the somewhat longer maturity profile.

SNAPSHOT

Historically, we have purchased different types of bonds in Strategic Income portfolios depending on the environment and available opportunities. Some examples include "busted" convertible bonds, "bullets," and "cushion bonds." Many current holdings are cushion bonds, which are bonds with relatively high coupons, but with a call feature that allows the issuing corporation the option to redeem the bond on a specified date in the not too distant future. These bonds are purchased at prices that should produce attractive returns if the bonds are redeemed on the expected call dates. However, if for some reason (e.g., turbulent capital markets, rising interest rates) the bonds are not redeemed on the anticipated call date, then the expected return should improve, due to the bonds' high coupon rate.

The total value of $527,141 assumes the reinvestment of dividends, interest and capital gains, but does not reflect the effect of any custodial fees. This chart does not imply any future performance.
